

Guitar for Christian Worship

These transcriptions are intended for solo guitar. The Capo markings are for playing with other instruments such as organ. This will place you in the same key as the hymnal. Since guitar music plays one octave below actual pitch, the pieces are transcribed into different keys to put the melody back into the same register as congregations are used to hearing.

The chord symbols may be used as a reference to players that wish only to strum and not play the melody. Bass notes for chords may be omitted. G/B would be played as a G chord with a B bass note. You could play a normal G chord.
