

A Service Setting for Guitar and Piano

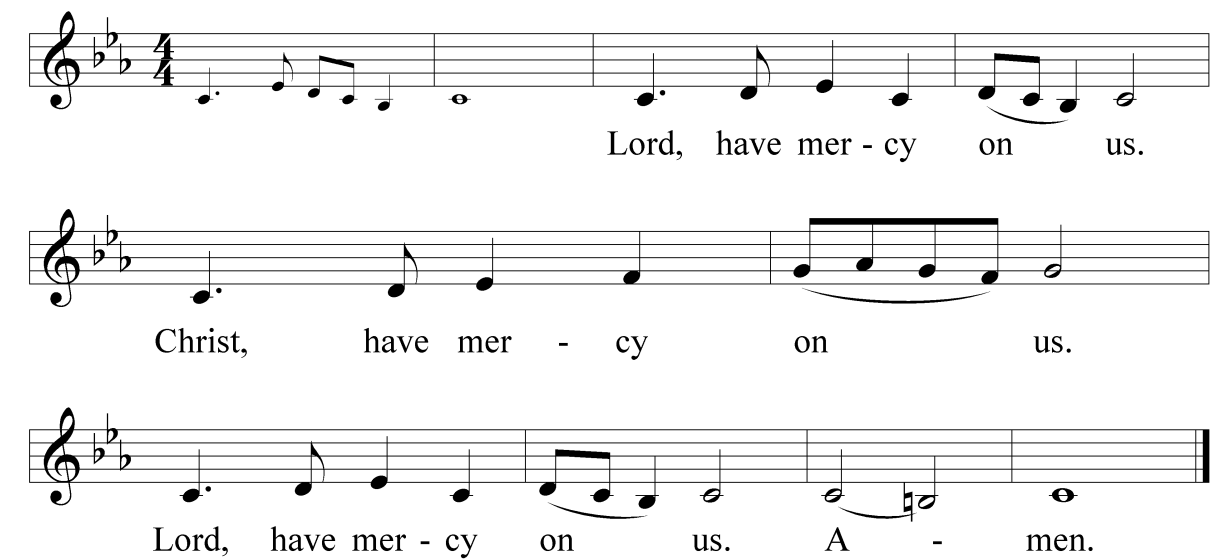

The canticles presented today were written primarily for medium level acoustic guitar. The chords are not difficult and the guitar lead sheets will include fret diagrams as in the Guitar Edition of Christian Worship: Supplement. With the knowledge that a single or even multiple acoustic guitars will likely be too thin of an accompaniment for most congregations that might choose to make use of these settings, the piano accompaniment was added. It was written to harmonically mesh with the guitar arrangement.

For any who may wish to acquire the guitar lead sheets and the piano score, an email will be sent to all who attend these two presentations with details of when and where they will be available for distribution.

With the arrival of YouTube and other online video sites, and with the way that a fair number of guitarists learn songs by watching video demos rather than by following sheet music, a non-professional demo of the guitar performance is available at...
